WEDNESDAY, DEC. 13, 1899.

When the Britons meet the Huns then comes the tug of war.

In every state where the Republican put the direct gold standard in the platform the vote of the party increased. The country wants this question settled distinctly and absolutely.

Kentucky will not be thoroughly cleansed of her political leprosy until Jo. P. S. Blackburn has been ousted forever and forever from sight. The woods are full of willing paid hangers.

Paris will open her exposition in April next. The first day of the month will be a very appropriate one. The suckers can then celebrate their natal day with a trip over the pond.

That great statesman from Owensboro, the Senator of the national committee, will be in Frankfort tomorrow to make one more effort to seat Goebel and his gang. The trip will be in vain.

Mr. L. C. Sparks, formerly of the Lincoln, Marshall county Star, and Mr. Clay G. Leavelle, of the Paducah

Leader, are starting a new weekly paper at London by the first of the year. They have made no definite arrangements as yet, however.

The legislature will strengthen the Republican party and weaken the Democratic party if it takes up the proposed contest for governor. This may be accepted by the Democrats as gratuitous advice, but it is a fact the future will verify without doubt.

Among the members of the house of representatives are two brothers,

Henry B. Clayton, of Alabama, and

T. H. Clayton, of New York. This is the first instance of two brothers serving in the same congress since George F. and E. Rockwood Hoar, of Massachusetts, sat in the house of representatives in 1873.

The official returns of the election in South Dakota have just been published. In 1896 the state gave Bryan a narrow plurality of 183. In 1898

Lee, the fusion candidate for governor, was elected by a plurality of 870. In the election of Nov. 7, last, the Republicans elected their candidates by majorities ranging from 5,058 to 6,231.

A superstitious Democrat points out the fact that Jefferson was defeated in 1796 and elected in 1800.

From history report itself and become president-elect next year. If the Democrats can find consolation in a parallel of that kind there is no reason for withholding it from them.

But they are easily satisfied just now and anxious for straws of any kind.

The Sun today prints Gov. Taylor's inaugural address entire. It is a manly and strong paper and should be read by all. The promises it contains are like the man and his past record and will go down to be read with much satisfaction by the general public. The allusions of the governor to the recent election will delight the patriots of the state, though they may throw the Goebellites into convulsion fits.

Mr. John Melton, of Murray, and two other gentlemen of newspaper experience have bought material and are going to establish a new paper in Frankfort. It is expected to have the plant in shape to begin the proposed publication with the opening of the new year, and this will no doubt be the case. The paper is to be Democratic in politics and during the session of the legislature will be printed as a daily and at other times as a weekly. It goes without the saying that the new paper is to be Democratic and that it will be connected with such and some vinegar.

The Leader a few days before the state canvassing board decided the result of the election about the time when the Goebellites thought the board would certainly count their loss in whether elected or not—came out in a scolding article and said it was not the state election board that decided the question all good and honest citizens should and will abide the result as fair etc. But the decision was not according to the Leader's idea or wish and, presto! its opinion has since been only that the Democrats were defrauded out of the election even by the board of canvassers and that the ticket should appeal to the legislature for redress and the offices. When this is done—and it seems to be settled it will be done—and the legislature turns the gang down—as the body will most certainly do,—what will the Leader do then, poor thing, and what will its position be? It has been several times on the side of what was just and often on the side of what was unjust, so it is no doubt that it can land most anywhere and exclaim, "We told you so." If inconsistency was a great sin the Leader would be a paste dinner as big as a grind stone.

Tomorrow the Democratic committee of the state are to gather in Frankfort, at the call of Chairman

Blackburn, and obey the boss's order to declare that the late state election should be contested before a partisan board. Will the committee so sullily their honor? Of course they will.

Are they not children of the same iniquity which created the ticket?

Well they are. Will they win? Not this year nor the next. Why not? Because the honest people of the state—and they are still in control—will not let them. Then why all this fuss? The ladies are only crying because they have once more lost their head on the public trail, and the holidays are at hand and the blazes of winter upon them. It is sad as well as ridiculous—is it not? Well, yes.

Elsewhere is printed ex-Gov. Taylor's retiring address. Though not lengthy it was eloquent and a strong defense of his administration. The state's plaudits of well done go with Mr. Bradley to his old home and to a retired life, while long life and prosperity is wished him.

The old sports on the Demos ticket who were beaten at their own game by the Republicans don't appear well in their daily out-pleadings. They would appear better Kentucky, at the least more to the manner born, if they would relinquish the "put" with the usual grace.

It is now said that the report that Judge Pryor was about to resign as a member of the state election board was only a gratuitous suggestion and one which will not be carried out. The object of the men who would thus attack the judge after he has become all the blint of the place and the abuse of those whose wish instead of the law he did not carry out has been recognized by the judge and he has, as his friends hope, decided to remain and see the gang out in all of their questionable transactions.

If this is the case those who have so roundly abused Messrs. Pryor and Ellis will regret the day they let their tongues run wild with their better judgment.

Gov. Coulter, of Maryland, it really seems is the only one of the Demo-cratic ticket up to yesterday who had dared to contest the election of the opposing member of the Republi-can ticket. And his contest papers are really funny, indicating Coulter either has a wit or an ass for his attorney, though he claims to be some-what of a lawyer himself. The petition contains there was a raciality in every county which gave a Republi-can majority and none, of course, in any county which voted for the Goebel gang. It lays particular stress on the thin ballot subterfuge and the soldiers in Louisville, and for a pleading of the baby act is just the size of the fellow who makes it.

It is said Coulter has been forced to make his kick by the demands of the score of fellows who thought they really had mortgages in the auditor's office under supposed con-tracts with the nominee.

STRONG AND MANLY

Was the Address Delivered By

Gov. Taylor Yesterday.

Appeal of Goebel Law Urged and Economical and Progressive Administration Promised.

The inaugural address of Governor Taylor, delivered at Frankfort when he entered into office yesterday, was like strong and manly and filled with satisfactory promises. The talk was well received, being often applauded in its delivery. The Sun gives the address entire as follows:

"In compliance with a time-honored custom, I appear before you to take the oath prescribed by the constitution, and to express my gratitude for the confidence reposed in me. It is not necessary for me to speak of those matters of administration, about which there is no special anxiety or fear. The verdict rendered on the 7th of last November was the mandate of the people of this Commonwealth, in favor of civil liberty. It was the triumph of the people over a needless, senseless, partisan machine, erected to enslave them. It had no political significance. Those who reject the rule of the majority and destroy the sanctity of the ballot box must, of necessity, try to despotism and tyranny are despots. An untrammelled ballot is the best basis principle of every righteous form of government; that government in which the people are permitted to participate and to have voice in the strongest on earth. It is the only one where every man at the call of his country would hasten to the defense of the flag. A jealous regard for the right of election by the people, acceptance in the will of the majority, equal and exact justice to all men and all political organizations, are the essential principles of government and constitute the sheet anchor of our peace and happiness.

"To confide to any partisan organization the entire mastery and control of elections is to invite and countenance political intolerance and tyranny. It is more to the party so constituted, it is a license for the commission of the most flagrant crimes and the stifling of the voice of the people, and inevitable result is anarchy or despotism.

"In spite of the monstrous machine which sought to destroy the will of the citizens and bear them down by force of might, there comes from them the clear, emphatic demand for an immediate and unconditional repeal of the election law of 1898, and the restoration of civil liberties, and compliance with the constitutional demand that 'all elections shall be free and equal.'

"This, my fellow-citizens, is the vital issue of the hour. It overshadows all others, for without a free election and a fair count, it is worse than mockery to speak of settling other questions at the polls. Two hundred and fourteen thousand voters of Kentucky have been recorded against this odious law, and thousands of others were denied opportunity to enter their protest against it.

"I hope, fervently pray, that this mighty army of freedom may hold fast to integrity, and with unflinching fidelity continue its struggle until this measure is erased from the books of law. Let all other matters be subordinated to the consummation of this glorious end. From each battlefield and pistol grave in this broad land there comes a warning against the encroachment of threats of the destruction of Republican form of government. Let us heed these admonitions ere it is too late.

"I believe implicitly in ultimate triumph of right, but there must be no cessation of effort in the struggle. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Until the control of the ballot is taken from the domination of a partisan machine and restored to the people, a dreadful ocean change over our homes; hence, in the language of the martyred Lincoln, 'With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in.'

"To this sacred cause I consecrate myself. There is little else to be said. So far as I may be able, I shall unflinchingly guard the interests of the taxpayers of the state against the extravagant or reckless use of the public revenues, and I will encourage the development of our material resources, and thereby inviting into our midst brain, brawn and capital from all sections of the country. In my humble way I hope to be able to assist in the advancement of the moral and educational interests of the Commonwealth. With these ends in view I fervently invoke the guidance of the Divine Ruler, and beseech Christian men and women of Kentucky

HIS FAREWELL

Ex-Gov. Bradley's Last Public Address an Eloquent One.

Was Strong Defense of His Administration and High Tribute to His Successor.

Ex-Governor Bradley's farewell address, delivered just before Governor Taylor's inauguration yesterday was strong, eloquent and a creditable defense of his administration. The address was as follows:
"The present administration came into power under the most adverse circumstances. For the first time in its history Kentucky elected a Republican ticket. The assurance was that many persons who had come to look upon the office as the property of the Democratic party became thoroughly aroused, and instead of giving such assistance as was proper to advance the interests of the state, aroused a most partisan attitude of opposition. With one branch of the legislature Republican and the other Democratic, antagonisms arose that no human power could control.
Much needed legislation failed, necessary the calling of a special session.
"But despite all this we can today point with pride to the record which has been made, and to the fact that the people have seen fit in the recent election to give it their hearty indorsement.
"When the Republican party assumed the reins of government, the treasury was empty, the public debt large, and the condition of the state financially impaired, and there was a total inability to meet current expenditures. The failure to pass necessary revenue bills at the first session only increased the humiliating conditions and postponed the remedies.
"In all more than $1,717,000 of warrants were issued and $500,000 of bonds sold to pay the floating debt. These bonds were sold for nearly 7 1/2 per cent premium, while those of our predecessors, with more favorable conditions, were sold for only 2 1/2 per cent.
"In the meanwhile, by economy and good management, the cost of the state has been reduced, and the expenses have been promptly met, every dollar of the $1,717,000 paid, and today we have in the treasury $1,100,000.
"This is more than sufficient to liquidate the $500,000 of bonds issued by our predecessors. The state debt, except educational and college bonds, which are not redeemable in full, in which interest semi-annually is paid, has been paid, and Kentucky is today practically out of debt.
"The charitable institutions have been materially enlarged and improved, and the per capita expenses in each materially reduced.
"No longer will the neglected children of the commonwealth, who cannot obtain education, be confined in the penitentiary with hardened criminals, but a house of reform has been erected where they may be educated, improved and given the opportunity to become useful citizens.
"The common school interests have been carefully guarded, and despite many difficulties, arising by reason of the decisions of the court of appeals, which retarded the revenue, the per capita of the first year has been steady-ly advanced, and this too although useful legislation was denied.
"The various departments of government have been decreased, and not one cent has been appropriated.
"Many other reforms were recommended and would have been adopted but for partisan resistance.
"The administration has lived up to promises contained in the platform of 1895, except in so far as it was confined by their predecessors.
"The building of new capital was twice recommended, and I indulged the hope that on this day it would be completed, but it was with other projects to complete this longed-for project.
"Every effort has been made to enforce the law and preserve the public peace, and it is cause for supreme regret that in the closing days of the administration an excited but unhappy minority should have been brought into the government of the state. My countrymen, the sooner we learn that peace and prosperity cannot be maintained as long as we show contempt for courts, and take the law into our hands, the better it will be for the advancement of the commonwealth. The commission of crime to murder another cannot be excused by a civilized people.
"It may be, in some instances, that no punishment for the criminals is too severe, but the law has fixed the punishment, and the infliction of any other cannot be justified.
"During the last four years much valuable legislation has been adopted, some of which was destroyed by the exercise of the veto power, some by the decisions of the court, and the most visions of all combined, at the recent election, by the people.
"We have recently passed through the most remarkable campaign for lit-tleness and intense excitement that the state has ever known. Let us increase the hope that after the cyclone has swept over the state, every citizen, irrespective of party, will go earnestly to work to remove the debris and build up the ruins of all the people spirit of forbearance, forgiveness and brotherly love. Let us hope that the law which has brought about so much trouble and strife may be repealed, and one adopted that will guarantee in every citizen the right to vote and have his vote counted.
"In this way alone can the evil of the majority be ascertained. In this way alone can free government be perpetuated.
"Today this administration passes into history, and I trust may be approved by the calm and deliberate judgment of the people.
"Four years ago, standing upon this spot, I gave the pledge that I would do right as God enabled me to see the right, and would be the government of all the people. This I have faithfully attempted to do, and can confidently say that I have the approval of my countrymen.

"No executive of this state has encountered so much of storm and so little of sunshine; so much of grave responsibility and so little of peace and rest. In the tempest I have failed to steer the ship over the proper course, it was the darkness that misled, and not the heart or brain.
"I now lay down the burden that I have borne for four years, with a profound pleasure, only regretting that another must take its place.
"The people gave the trust; to them I return it, thinking them for the honor conferred.
"Today another assumes official duties; one who has made a gallant and able fight for human liberty. That his administration may be entirely successful, and that he may be spared many of the responsibilities that were visited upon his predecessor, is my sincere wish.
"May the grand old state, that we love so well, grow in material prosperity. May its harvests, with their rich fruitage, feed and clothe the people; its population and wealth increase; its wastelands be reclaimed; and may it advance in intelligence, education and civilization as long as its mountains rear their heads and its rivers run to the sea."

There will be a total eclipse of the

MONEY CHANGED HANDS.

A considerable amount of money changed hands yesterday, but considerable more didn't change hands.
A number of stockholders were notified by interested persons not to arranger money they had bet and placed with them. Several told them not to give up. One $300 bet in writing was that "Taylor would be the next governor." He is now governor, yet the Gould man served notice not to surrender the money. It will probably be several weeks before many of the bets are decided.

CONTEST BEGUN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. - The contest over the place for holding the next Republican convention has begun, with Philadelphia making the best effort to secure the favor of the president. A large delegation now the president and explained to him the hopes of that city.
The president expressed pleasure at meeting the delegates, but said he would be manifestly improper for him to express the slightest preference for any city in a contest of this character. A large delegation from Chicago is expected to arrive here tomorrow in the interest of that city.

BARGE WATER.

Coal Now Coming Down From Pittsburg, Pa.

According to advices received the coal barge will in all probability get started this morning.
The recent rains have caused a great rise in the river, and the coal men expect barge water to be reached sometime during the night. At present the coal supply is very small all down the river and if cold weather should come the supply would not last long.

MOON ECLIPSE.

moon Saturday. The moon will enter the earth's shadow at 5:45 p. m., and will reach the maximum obscuration at 7:25 p. m. Beyond the general interest of an eclipse, to an astronomer it is of great importance.
The person who disturbed the congregation last Sunday by coughing, is requested to call on S. H. Winstead, D. A. Yelzer and get a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, which always gives relief.

GOVERNOR SANTA CLAUS' HEADQUARTERS

For real valuable and practical Xmas presents. There are, or should be, three objects with the giver of presents: 1st, should be to give something that would be of real practical service; 2nd, beauty and style; 3rd, an honest low price. In order to do this, then, it will require some investigation, and we invite you to come to our store and inspect the many practical things we have to show that will make just the kind of presents we have referred to. We suggest the following for the most suitable:

..Christmas Presents..

An OVERCOAT, a SUIT OF CLOTHES, a Pair of PANTS, a nice Shirt, a suit Underwear (for men or ladies), a nice pair of Suspenders, a pair Hose or Socks, a Hat or Cap, a dozen or half dozen up-to-date Collars, Nice Cuffs—plain or link, nice Cuff Buttons, a pair Fancy Garters, a nice Tie, a nice Dress Pattern, a nice Cape or Jacket, Night Shirts, a pair Gloves, a nice Corset, Fascinators, Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Etc.

We would like to quote prices on all these articles, and would if our space would permit, but we assure you that the price we make on every article mentioned above will be AS LOW AS THE LOWEST, and possibly, by investigation you will find that OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

PELL, observer.

The Roanoke lumber, of the Ryan Lane, which has been running under charter in the Evansville and Louisville trade left Louisville yesterday. She will arrive here tomorrow for Nashville. Captain Tom Ryan is in command.

The wharf today has undoubtedly been the busiest and liveliest part of the city. All the packets of the different lines of boats that have been laid up are shipping up their crews of men and the wheels of river commerce which were forced into retirement by the low water of many months ago are once more permitted to "spin" again. There are many river men who reside in Paducah that have been out of employment for a long time that have been called to duty and they didn't wait the second bid to be comfortable.

The Dick Fowler was brought over from the Illinois shore this morning, and is being put in readiness to start out for Cairo tomorrow morning in place of the J. B. Richardson which has been filling the Fowler's place for several months. The Richardson on return from Cairo will get ready to leave here tomorrow at noon for Nashville. Captain J. S. Tyler with his crew will arrive from Nashville to take charge of her.

The Dick Fowler, looking as handsome as a "sweet sixteen-year-old" was brought over from Illinois today, and she will leave for Evansville this evening on arrival of the 10th hourly.

The John S. Hopkins leaves Evansville this afternoon, arriving here early tomorrow morning leaving on her return trip promptly at 10 a.m. The owners of the Hopkins have spent several thousand dollars on her since she laid up there last summer. Her many admirers will give her a cordial welcome.

The H. W. Hunteroff has been released from charter by the Evansville and Paducah Packet Company.

The city of Paducah is advertised to leave St. Louis next Friday for Tennessee river.

Captain Douglas Jones left last night for St. Louis where he will take command of the River Lee which leaves St. Louis for Tennessee river next Saturday.

The J. M. Howell with a tow of cross ties arrived out of Tennessee this morning.

The John L. Lowry leaves this evening for Tennessee river. She goes to Danville.

CITY DISPENSARY

Dr. Lillard Sanders Preparing to Fix Things in Great Shape.

Will Keep Medicine at the City Hall to Give to the Poor.

City Physician Lillard Sanders is arranging for a public dispensary of medicines at the city hall. The dispensary will be regularly maintained in one of the offices, just which one is not decided, however, and he will keep regular office hours for the dispensation of medicine to the needy poor who call for it. This dispensary is to be maintained under the new ordinance requiring the city physician to dispense his own drugs, instead of issuing prescriptions to be filled at the drug stores.

The medicine will all be bought wholesale by the city, thus saving the retailer's profit, and when the city physician goes out to make city calls, he will always carry a case of drugs to give out instead of prescriptions.

It is thought the new plan will prove a great success. It is hoped to have the dispensary ready for business in a few days.

BAPTISING SUNDAY.

Thirty to be immersed at the Foot of Jefferson Street.

A two weeks' meeting at the Washington street Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Hawkins, the pastor, assisted by Rev. J. J. Garrett, of Louisville, has resulted in a large number of conversions, and Sunday afternoon there will be a baptismal service, in which thirty candidates will be immersed at the foot of Jefferson street.

Large crowds have heretofore attended these baptisms, and Sunday there will doubtless be an unusually large one present. There is a possibility of disruption among some of the brethren, however, over the fact that it is proposed to take a collection on the river bank Sunday from all present.

The city official claim that it will be a more noteworthy attraction to gather a crowd and the spectators.

CUT A WOMAN.

John West, a negro well known to police circles, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with cutting Hester Stevill near Ninth and Washington streets. Hester was not seriously injured, but this fact does not lessen Stevill's chances to go to the penitentiary for it. He was held to answer and went to jail for a third of bond.

NEW REVENUE REGULATION.

Revenue Stamps Must Be Multiplied By the User

Stamp Deputy W. J. White has received from headquarters a new rule and regulations relative to the cancellation of revenue stamps.

The new regulation, in addition to requiring the user to stamp the stamp with his initials and the date, must mutilate the said stamp by cutting three parallel marks running from not less than one fourth from the top to not less than one fourth of an inch from the bottom.

Such stamps are perforated by the user, such as those on checks, drafts, etc., the aforesaid mutilation need not be effected.
